CORRECTION

In the story in last week's Town Crier concerning sewer costs for the proposed Eames Street Industrial Park an extra zero crept in. The costs as given by Charles Kirkian of the Anderson Nichols & Co firm of Boston were: Across the National Polychemicals land - $109,000; and via Eames Street and the B&M RR $183,000.

BLOODMOBILE HERE FRIDAY

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at Villanova Hall Friday, from 12:45 pm to 6:45 pm.

Sponsored jointly by the Wilmington Council of the Knights of Columbus, and the Masons of the Friendship Lodge, AF&AM, the presence of the Bloodmobile is a challenge to every Wilmington resident.

In recent years the Blood Mobile has never received a full quota of blood from the people of Wilmington, on any occasion that it visited this town.

Now the boys in Vietnam are giving more than just their blood. Can the people of Wilmington respond and do their part?

Board of Health is Sued Again

A DITCH OFF DEL DRIVE: Which seems to be planned to drain water from a house lot into the street drain. Notice the open drain cover in the foreground. At the right, above the ditch, is Ernest Romano, Health Director of Wilmington, and at left, also looking down into the ditch is Mr Tranfaglia of the Glen Realty Co. of Lynn, the company which is suing Mr Romano and the Board of Health. The picture was taken yesterday morning.

The Wilmington Board of Health has been sued again.

This time it is because of three lots of land, in an area of clay and rock, on Dell Drive, off Burlington

Avenue. On two of the lots there have been water filled cellar holes for some years, about which the neighbors have constantly com-

TO BE TORN DOWN SATURDAY: - The ancient Gowing-Swain House, on Lowell Street will be torn down Saturday. The arsonist's fire, last Easter Weekend, damaged the old building to the point where it is no longer profitable to repair it.

Another of Wilmington's pre-Revolutionary War homes is to disappear this weekend, if the plans of the Jackson Brothers, present owners, mature.

If the present work of their bulldozer is completed by 5 pm Friday demolition of the ancient home will start at 8 am Saturday.

The home dates prior to 1750 and was built by John Gowing, one of Wilmington's earliest Selectmen, and an ancestor of many Wilmington families today.

It was for many years the residence of Charles Swain, founder of the Wilmington Public Library, and it was to this home that returned after his service in the Union Army had been completed, during the Civil War.

His three daughters, Caroline,

Henrietta and Mary lived in the home for three quarters of a century. Caroline and Henrietta, between them, served nearly one hundred years teaching the school children of Wilmington, and it is for those two ladies that the Swain School was named.

The building is one of the few remaining buildings in this part of Middlesex County to still have a 'shoemaker's shop', where the men of the family would cut leather, during the winter, for shipping to shoe manufactories. Many Wilmington boys who enlisted in the Union Army, in the Civil War, enlisted as 'shoemakers' rather than farmers, although they spent more time in the latter occupation.

How do Architects get on The Library List?

The Board of Trustees of the Public Library spent one and a half hours, last Thursday evening with Mrs Betty Flynn, of the Bureau of Library Extension, Commonwealth of Massachusetts. The subject of the conversation was how and when to apply for Federal aid, and similar subjects, in the construction of public libraries. The conversation was intended to be informative only. Mrs Flynn had previously spent some time, a couple of years ago with Ralph Kelmon, former Chairman, at the time of the proposal to build an $886,400 library

At the end of the conversation Chairman Carl Gubellini asked Mrs Flynn how architects get onto the 'preferred list of library architects' made up by the Commonwealth.

Mrs Flynn told Gubellini that an experienced architect is acceptable, and that on the other hand, if a good consultant has been employed and the architect follows the recommendations of that consultant he would also be acceptable.

The list made up by the state, she said, is not necessarily an endorsement, but new architects feel that it is discriminatory.

PAGE TWO

There were other applicants who were also qualified who should be interviewed. I do not think the Board of Selectmen devoted much time, interest, effort or energy to finding a town manager. I would not be a party to a sudden, hurried decision in a matter of such great concern to Wilmington. That was the reason for my vote on May 6th.

Both Mr Black and I also voted that the Town Manager's salary should be $12,400, plus $600 expenses, for a total of $13,000. This was the amount Mr Morris had indicated he would accept; and which represented a $3,000 increase over his present salary in St. Albans. A majority of the Board voted a salary of $14,000, plus $900 expenses.

I have no objection to establishing a salary at the $14,000 level, but I could neither discern any reason nor obtain any explanation as to why the Board of Selectmen should pay a thousand dollars per year more than the amount requested for a starting salary, plus an additional $900 for expenses. If this salary

FORTUNATE GRASSHOPPERS

Without any disparagement of the man who is to become Wilmington's Town Manager on May 29th, it must be remarked that the majority of the Wilmington Board of Selectmen acted like so many grasshoppers, in their work of choosing the new TM.

Everyone remembers Aesop's fable of the grasshopper who sang while the ant worked. It wasn't until the cold blasts of fall arrived that the grasshopper suddenly got down to the serious business of thinking.

Wilmington's Selectmen advertised for a Town Manager last December, shortly after the previous TM had left. There were a number of applicants and at least some of them were potentially good men.

A majority of the board sat on their hands for the next three months, and refused to evaluate, discuss, or interview. Some openly stated that they had no desire to interview any of the candidates. The attitude of the majority prevented the minority from acting.

Nothing happened until after the March elections, and then two, and two only, applicants were interviewed. Then the selectmen again crawled up onto their stalks of grass.

Their attitude suddenly changed when Mr Melzar announced that he would be leaving as of May 15th. The cold blasts of fall could suddenly be felt.

Hurriedly the selectmen started checking into the probability of hiring the man they deemed best, of the two they had interviewed. No other candidate had ever been considered.

And when it appeared that Morris would accept some of the Selectmen, in the probable fear that he might change his mind, offered him $1000 a year more than he was asking for. Mr Melzar would be leaving shortly, and the wind was cold.

Morris is probably worth the money, for St. Albans offered to meet the salary offered in Wilmington.

But the majority of the Board of Selectmen can only consider themselves as being Fortunate Grasshoppers.

HOW TO THROW AWAY MONEY

The proposal made last week in the Planning Board meeting to install a thousand foot long pipe line in the middle of a field because some houses have water in the cellars is an excellent example of how to throw money away.

If the drain were constructed it would tend to keep the field dry, true. But the water is in the cellars, and that's where the problem is.

And draining a field through a pipe line is not necessarily the best answer. The best way to drain a field is to have some place for the water to go, not to bury it underground.

A shallow swale, constructed with the proper pitch, will drain the water far more effectively, if there is a place for the water to go. There might even be some maintenance of the swale.

The pipe, being underground, would soon be forgotten, except possibly for the exploratory fingers and minds of children playing in the neighborhood. In the period of a few years that pipeline would most assuredly be plugged by the children, in one way or another.

The major problem is how to keep the water out of the cellars. Many Wilmington people know, from past experience. A householder either (a) prevents the water from getting into the cellar, or (b) pumps it out.

Men who have served in the US Army will remember being taught how to 'trench' pup-tents, while on field maneuvers. The 'trench' was a shallow gully, uphill from the tent, which diverted the rain water from flowing into the tent.

In a similar way cellars can have rain water diverted; i.e. by a proper molding of the lawn, using the proper clay for the part that becomes the 'trench'. Another way is to dig down outside, to a point lower than the foundations, and fill the bottom with small stones 'peastones'. Then, protecting the stones so that dirt cannot get in, the trench is filled again, but only after a provision has been made to drain off the water collected, by an outside drain to a lower point.

Both methods are fairly good and have been used in many homes in Wilmington. But they don't always work.

The least expensive method, perhaps, is to install a sump pump. And sometimes this is the best. There are many such pumps in Wilmington.

LIBRARY BOARD
(Fr. Front Pg.)

She was asked by Mrs Nellson if it was ethical for Library Consultants to recommend architects, and this she did not know.

Mrs Nellson asked if the American Library Association's standards should be revalued, because of the changing picture in transportation in this country, with emphasis today on automobiles.

Mrs Flynn said that there would shortly be a new edition of the book known as 'Wheeler' (a standard work on Libraries, Ed.) and that Wheeler says you should put your library at a place where a merchant puts his store. 'We are not interested in traditional locations,' she said, 'We would want to use our own evaluation'.

Censorship

After Mrs Flynn had left Mrs Norton spoke up against the decision of two weeks ago, in that members of the Board should only express opinions at Board meetings. It had been interpreted by some to mean that the individual members of the board were being censored, Mrs Norton said. On her own behalf she felt unable to answer questions which were directed to her.

Mr Gubellini agreed that Mrs Norton could 'talk as an individual' Mrs Norton said she had been talking twenty years about a library. Gubellini agreed that she could make 'her own personal utterances and if there is a matter of policy bring it to the board.'

Salaries

Mrs Norton and Mrs Nellson, who are a sub-committee on Library Salaries, had been compiling a report on 85 towns between 10,000 and 24,999 population but had not completed the job. Mrs Nellson described her effort as 'stopgap' and 'not material for the budget this fall'.

Gubellini wanted to know if the Library personnel had received the 6% increase in pay voted to all town employees this spring.

Mrs Nellson said that it did accrue to one employee, but not to the part time employees, which by a definition made by former TM Bouchard, were persons who were employed less than 30 hours a week.

It was difficult to follow through on recommendations, Mrs Nellson said, because there had been three chairmen of the Board of Library Trustees in the past year, and she did not understand the procedures used by the Finance Committee and Town Hall. They, Mrs Nellson and Mrs Norton, had tried to get increases and they believed they had not.

It was a rough week for Coach Gilligan's WHS Wildcats, as they dropped all three Merrimac Valley Conference games. On Tuesday, Burlington was treated to twelve walks and the Red Devils used them well in Bombing the locals 12-0. Wednesday found Chelmsford as the opposition and the Lions mauled Billy Steber and his mates for a 6-2 win. It was Steber's second loss in as many days. On Friday, the hits started to fall for the Wildcats but a few too many fell for Dracut and the Middles triumphed 9-8 over Billy Walls in an abbreviated six inning game.

There were two track meets involving the high schoolers last week. The first was a 75-38 romp over Burlington and the second a 64-49 setback at the hands of Dracut. Against Burlington, standout performances by Dick Doucette and Paul Zaverson paced the victors. Doucette won the low hurdles as usual, but also captured top honors in the discus as well. While Zaverson, Mike Wright and George Phillips scampered through the tape nearly simultaneously in an exciting sweep of the hundred, and then Paul took a deep breath and won the broad jump. Other first place finishers were Rollie Woodshot put; Ed Thomas-high jump; George Phillips-220; Glen Cox-880 Frank Harrington-mile; and the relay. On Friday George Phillips outsprinted everyone in the 100 and 220 yd. dashes for two firsts in a losing cause. Wilmington managed five other first places with Cox and Zaverson again winning the 880 and broad jump respectively. Dave Boeri, back in full stride after an illness, ran away with the 440; Hank Devlin won the low hurdles; and Frank Harrington switched back to the two mile for a win. Once again a lack of Wildcat depth allowed Dracut to pick up valuable seconds and thirds and consequently enough points for a fifteen point bulge.

Unreserved

Still another 'Wildcat' team in town picked up a 9-1 win, bringing its season's record to 5 and 4. These Wildcats are Carl Backstrom's junior hockey entry in the Melrose Spring League. Jimmy Brewster pumped in no more than 5 goals in the latest encounter with an ever improving Eddie Gilles turning in a strong night in the nets. Well the Bruins have dealt away three lads people figured would be protected in the expansion draft. Gli Marotte had an off year and Murray Oliver and Pit Martin were a little too puny and were getting pushed around. Eddie Shack a poor man's Ted Lindsey, has the galley gods drooling already. The next deal has Bernie Parent, Ed Johnston, and Gerry Cheevers, three unhappy people, and Hap Emms being traded to the new Saskatoon Sunflower Seeds for Real Chevraffis, John Diefenbaker and Yukon Eric.

Word has it Jim Miller's stay at B.C. won't go beyond the next campaign. Spring practice didn't turn up any phenoms.

Marine training is the latest rage in Wilmington's physical education classes. It features a lot of scrambling and crawling and provides a rugged workout as you might expect.

Notice the way Don Demeter is hitting?.....Those bottling hurling halfwits married an excellent Tiger Torres T.V. fight Tuesday....When is the high school golf team going to have a match?

LITTLE LEAGUE ROUNDUP

MAJOR LEAGUE RESULTS

Orioles 8 - Indians 3. The Indians came out on the short end of an 8-3 count on the opening game of the season. Danny Kindred pitched a perfect game for four innings before the heaving hitting Orioles, led by Tom Southmayd and Ray Noel, finally solved him. Bob Cheney pitched a one hitter for the winners.

White Sox 7 - Tigers 6. The Tigers, last years champions, lost their opener in the last inning, 7 to 6, to the White Sox. The Sox, paced by the clutch pitching of Ruby Nickerson, proved too strong. Gary Smith and Mike O'Brien starred for the losers.

Orioles 4 - Yankees 2. The Orioles established themselves as the team to beat, coming up with their second straight win, 4 to 2, over the Yankees. Bob Cheney picked up his second win without a loss. Ray Noel and Neil Stevens paced the Orioles attack, Stevens with the first home run of the season.

Ever wonder how so many new diseases are discovered?

Well, medical researchers may be copying the diary of Baron Oskar von Redwitz, an eighteenth century German poet. The good Baron was what you might call a hypochondriac's hypochondriac.

For the last 28 years of his life he complained of a new ailment every day. By the time he died at 68, he had managed to describe more than 10,000 different illnesses.

And what's more every one of them was completely unknown to medical science!

He must have really kept his doctors hopping. But, then he paid their fees, to learn what was to him incurable! Somewhat a 'pillar' of society we'd say.

Now medical science has found an antidote for most of those ills the Baron discovered...and a lot more. The great est boon to mankind lies in the relief and aid to the serious illnesses that come with the doctor's prescription. For all the modern remedies, call Silver Lake Pharmacy...Free Prescription Delivery...24 Hour Film Developing...Plenty of Free Parking...Hours: 9 AM to 10 PM Daily....

Hey Folks, there's a coffee battle going on in the Square! Big Joe has a new Silex, and he is giving Okie a run for his money. At the last rate Joe was charging 12¢ and Okie 15¢, but it may change at any moment!

Today is the Silver Wedding Anniversary of Mr and Mrs Walter (Doris) Mercer of Del Drive. They had a big anniversary party last Saturday at the Old Reading House (Oar and Anchor) in North Reading.

The party was planned by their daughter Beverly, and Mrs Leo O'Connell Jr, and 75 relatives and friends were in attendance.

Walter and Doris were married in 1942 at the Methodist Church in Everett, and their best man, William Patterson, now of Roxbury was at the party.

Mrs White, the hostess at the Reading House planned things very nicely, and two money trees were presented to the Mercers, and other gifts. The buffet supper included salads of all types, seafood newburg, chicken a la king, cold turkey, harvard beets, jellied salads, desert and beverage. There was dancing, and everyone had a wonderful time, and the happy couple are telling me to thank everyone involved in the affair.

Bill Kennedy, Joe Masse and Wesley Kobylak took in the Saturday preview of 'Casino Royale', trenchcoats and all. They got there about 1:15 am and, before they expected it, the doors were opened and they were slowly stuffed inside. The movie was fairly good, but the action was on the outside, as we all know.

The little birdie who told me all about it says that they saw five cars with their tops caved in, a boy with a kicked-in face, and a few drunks.

Despite all this, they say, they believe most of the kids went there for the same reason they did: it was unique, and a fund raiser.

The promotion promised that there would be free coffee and donuts at the preview. Well, there plained to the Board of Selectmen.

Papers on file in Middlesex Superior Court show that the Glen Realty Company of Lynn owns three lots of land, Lots 23, 24 and 25, and that they are all of legal size and conform with the Sub-Division laws and Zoning By-Laws.

James Durkee, Marion Boylen and Joseph Paglia, members of the Board of Health, and Ernest Romano, Director of Public Health of Wilmington have been directed to appear before the Superior Court next Monday, at 9:30 am to show cause why building permits, etc. should not be granted.

The papers state that the petitioner (Glen Realty) has filed for construction of sewage disposal systems, and that the applications are in complete compliance with the sanitary code of Wilmington and the Commonwealth, and that it has met all tests and requirements, both of Wilmington and the Commonwealth.

According to the petition for a Writ of Mandamus, Ernest Romano, Director of Public Health, on October 31, 1966, in a letter to Mr Tranfaglia of Glen Realty (the letter being attached as Exhibit A) stated that after consultation with the members of the Board of Health notified Glen Realty that it would not issue permits at that time, and requested that the petitioner submit to new percolation tests in the spring of 1967.

The papers on file in Cambridge Court further say that Glen Realty took new percolation tests on the lots, in April 1967, in compliance with the respondent's request, and that the tests met all the legal requirements to enable the petitioner to receive the permits, but, the petition says, the respondents (Board of Health and Romano) have refused to act on the applications and have refused to grant the permits.

The petition for a Writ of Mandamus not only ends with a plea that the Court direct the Board of Health and Romano to award the construction permits, but also asks for costs and damages.

Mrs Neilson described one of the former library employees who had had a position which could be called assistant librarian. The lady has a degree in library science and was being paid, on a part time basis, at $1.65 an hour. Finally she left and went to work as a part time librarian for the Wilmington Public Schools. The salary she was now getting, Mrs Neilson said, was $4.00 an hour.

This, she thought, was worthy of comment. She herself had been going down to the library on Sundays to do secretarial work, and when she found out that other boards had secretaries she put in a request to the Town Manager for this, and it wasn't allowed.

The board now does have a secretary who is getting $2 an hour for secretarial services, and $1.50 an hour for other part time work.

Mrs Neilson also mentioned another lady who has been working for some years in the library and is now full time, and is getting $2.05 an hour. Librarian Connors volunteered that the lady was 'the most important person at the present time' in the library. Mrs Neilson said she had been talking with the Town Accountant about this lady's pay, and she believed that 'maybe there would be a change as of May 1'.

Gubellini said that there was a real question as to what is 'part time' and that it will have to be resolved. There was also, he said, a question as to the wages of the Library Pages, etc. Mrs Norton told him that all secretaries for the town boards were receiving $2 a hour, except for the Board of Selectmen and the Planning Board. These were being paid at the rate of $2.50.

Mrsdames Neilson and Norton will continue as a Salary Study Committee.

Other Business

Gubellini told the board that the two 'additional' sites for possible library construction sites had been checked out, and found to have about one and a half acres each, and to be valued at about $45,000.

The next meeting, he said, would have on the agenda the services to be provided in the new library, and further reports on the salary study.

Mrs Norton spoke up to say that she believed the board should be discussing sites. Gubellini wanted to discuss facilities first, but on the insistence of Mrs Norton agreed to include sites in the discussion for the next meeting.

The next meeting is to be on May 25th., and meetings thereafter, the board decided, will be on Thursdays, on a bi-monthly schedule.
